PINOT NOIR 2018 MALLECO

This wine comes from the Los Suizos vineyard, which is located 3.5 kilometers from the city of Traiguén in Chile's south. Its soils, formed by the weathering process of volcanic breccia, consist of a blend of clay and volcanic rocks that offer ideal conditions of fertility and moisture retention for developing a viticulture of high-standard.

Due to its soil and climate conditions, this is a unique vineyard that allows developing the variety's characteristic expression, giving life to a wine that faithfully mirrors the landscape in which its vines grow. This Pinot Noir is faint in color, with spicy notes and remarkable red fruits on the nose. Its light body and pleasant acidity make it a fresh wine, very easy to drink.
